

ABOUT

LEA

HARTMAN

Lea started her career in law enforcement as a patrol officer in Texas where she quickly excelled in working crimes against people and interacting with the public, especially in times of crisis. After graduating the police academy, she went through various death investigation, interviewing and interrogating courses to ensure she could effectively work with people from all backgrounds.

Lea made her switch to teaching when she became a mom to two boys but she never lost her passion for law enforcement. She is currently a full time teacher here in the Blackfoot School District where she is also pursuing her masters in Educational Leadership and Administration.

Death investigation is so important to families and Lea sees the value in having someone who can be compassionate while still getting the job done. Having gone through a suicide in her own family and seeing the lack of any resources or care, she wants to ensure no family here goes through it alone. She was brought on to be one of the Deputy Coroners to assist the residents of Bingham County in all their needs. Lea has a Masters in Education and is currently working towards her Medicolegal Death Investigator Certification (D-ABDMI.)

Lea is proudly dedicated to both her classroom teaching and ensuring all decedents and their families receive the highest level of respect.
